

CRC TiME Forum Speaker Biography – Associate Prof. Bryan Maybee

Bryan Maybee is an Associate Professor and the Discipline Lead for Minerals and Energy Economics at Curtin University. His research is in project evaluation, risk management and tax administration as applied to the resources sectors. Through the application of theories and tools from the finance industry he has worked with governments and major mining companies globally to develop tools and methodologies that improve mine planning and strategic decision-making processes. He coordinates the MSc in Minerals and Energy Economics at Curtin University, and provides learning programs on matters of taxation and project evaluation for emerging minerals-based economies. Bryan is a Consultant to the World Bank, a member of the MRIWA College of Experts, and Program Lead for Risk, Evaluation and Planning in the CRC for Transformations in Mining Economies.