

CRC TiME Forum Speaker Biography – Prof. Fiona McKenzie

Professor Fiona Haslam McKenzie is Regional Economic Development project lead for the Co-operative Research Centre for Transformation in Mining Economies. She has expertise in regional economic development with extensive experience in population and socioeconomic change, housing, and analysis of remote, regional and urban socioeconomic indicators. She has published widely and undertaken work for the corporate and small business sectors both nationally and in Western Australia. In 2015 Fiona was appointed as co-director of the Centre for Regional Development at The University of Western Australia. She is also a member of the Western Australian Environmental Protection Authority.