

Kim Ferguson is the Practice Lead Global Closure in the BHP Resource Centre of Excellence. Kim is also the current Co-Chair of the International Council of Mines and Metals (ICMM) Closure Working Group.

Kim has over 20 years' experience in resources projects throughout Australia and internationally, including West Africa and South America, ranging from greenfields exploration through operations to closure planning and implementation and post-closure monitoring. She has experience in a range of commodities including gold, copper, iron ore, silver, lead / zinc, coal and petroleum.

Kim has held operational, corporate, project and consulting roles covering environmental and social impact assessment and approvals, resource closure planning and execution, stakeholder engagement, sustainability and environmental management as well as auditing and acquisition and divestment roles.

Kim is passionate about mining being a responsible industry that plays a key role in a more sustainable future for us all.